

Albuquerque Karma Thegsum Choling Tibetan Buddhist Center Presents

Sacred Buddhist Art

with Lama Karma Chopal
Memorial Day Weekend, May 25-27, Sat, Sun, and Mon

Join us as Lama Chopal teaches us to draw a simple Buddha figure using sacred proportion and measurement. He will also be re-painting the prayer wheel and attendees may participate.

Sat and Sun May 25-26
Sacred Buddhist art class
9 am-noon, 2-3 pm
3-5 pm Prayer wheel painting
Mon May 27 Prayer wheel painting
10 am-noon, 2 pm to finish

Albuquerque KTC
139 La Plata NW
Albuquerque, NM
Building in the back
$15 per session
suggested donation

Lama Karma Chopal was born in east Tibet, became a monk, and studied thangka painting, mandala design and other art forms under Sonam Nyima, a Kagyu master of iconographic art. In India, he completed his monastic training, studied at HH Karmapa's monastery at Rumtek, and accomplished the 3-year retreat. He continued in the monastic arts of tormas making, ritual music, and chanting; studied Buddhist philosophy and advanced meditation in India and Nepal. In 2001, he came to the US and completed 2 stupas in NY and Virginia. He travels in the US and Asia honoring requests for thangka painting, sand mandala, temple painting, and other arts. When at home, he is the resident lama at Kagyu Mila Guru Stupa north of Questa, New Mexico.

Albuquerque Karma Thegsum Choling www.abqkctc.org info@abqkctc.org 505-400-4346